CVTC receives donation to stock hygiene closet

First National Bank donates $500 to assist Canadian Valley Technology Center honors society students in their hygiene closet project drive for the spring semester. The donation will provide multiple hygiene products like shampoo, body wash, deodorant, razors, shaving cream and much more. Andrea Verser (center) explained to FNBT Manager Sharon Bowman and Beverly White the purpose behind the drive, which is to provide the low-income students the opportunity to stay confident in how they present themselves in the public eye. "Roughly 20-25 percent of students will have use for these basic supplies," Verser said. "With this donation we will be able to purchase supplies in bulk to last us more than two years."
