Bank partners with Veterans Corner to help local vets

For the last three years, First National Bank has partnered with Veterans Corner Inc. to provide assistance to veterans in the Newcastle, Tuttle and Blanchard area.

Newcastle Bank Manager Miranda Taliaferro, Tuttle Bank Manager Katie Sanders, and Blanchard Bank Manager Pam Moorehead presented Veterans Corner Chairman Alfred Hollis and Jerry Baxter a check for $5000 for the center.

“I feel its important to help our veterans because not only is it our American duty to take care of the men and women that have put us ahead of their own lives and families’ but because I have great empathy for those in our community in need,” Taliferro said. “And this is a group in need. This is a safe place where a vet can get emotional support and understanding and comradery.”

The Veterans Corner provides not only guidance for any veteran needing to learn more about benefit options available but also as a place to meet and visit with others who have served in a war.

Baxter told the group, “First National Bank always steps up.” He then went on to list what the donations have provided in the last few years: paper, water, a storage building for donated medical supplies and an ice maker.

Hollis also noted the banks contributions and the impact on better serving the veterans of the three communities.
